I am against anymore sanctuaries, bans or restrictions. Some "Special Interest" people like to make more, or change rules and regulations to suit their personal lifestyle and job security at the sacrifice of others.

According to our state laws, a person can walk, lets say, from Waikiki Beach, from below the highwater mark all the way around the island without breaking any laws, except for temporary safety issues. Don't make rules to close any shoreline or beaches

Why live in Hawaii if you don't want to see a local or tourist walking, swimming fishing or just enjoying the ocean in front of your house.

Its just like living in Texas but you dont want to see any "Cowboys".

Enough Rules and Regulations already

The ocean should be enjoyed by all conscientous and honest people.

Mahalo for your time
