

From ambermaliah@tmo.blackberry.net

Sent Saturday, October 16, 2010 7:22 pm
To hihwmanagementplan@noaa.gov
Subject Note From Dane K. Bishop

"diving as a kid we would have many different i'a and uluwehi o ke kai to pick and choose from, as i got older the faster those thing dissappeared. i abandoned fishing altogether for a while because i was so disgusted at the total disregard for conservation that some so called fishermen were practicing. i turned to hunting because there were and still are so many puaa in the forest to eat. us guys know we would rather eat fish over pork 9 times out of 10 but it was a win win situation...lots of meat and helping the forest at the same time. now that i have children i have gone back to gathering from the ocean because it is their right and our privilage to be able to do so. i want to teach my son and daughter the right way to go about doing so. das how it has been done and i dont want to be the one to break the cycle... one generation at a time... till the end of time"

Dane K. Bishop
Sent via BlackBerry from T-Mobile